EMPOWERING ENLIGHTNING ENGAGING

Amy Malkan is a Houston native, public artist, professional speaker and entrepreneur.

Through her unwavering passion of self-development and ability to deliver powerful messages through a creative perspective, she created interactive, experiential, creative team building workshops, The Malkan Group, LLC. These programs use various creative activities to make leadership concepts tangible, sustainable and applicable to everyday life, professionally and personally. She has worked with several organizations, business, non-profits, corporations, schools and youth organizations.

Through her art, she works with but not limited to acrylic, aerosol and mixed media to create fine art, commissions and public art for the community. When she creates every piece, it is done with purpose and intention to transfer positive energy through the artwork. Her main objective is to empower the viewer to see a different perspective and to recognize the potential within oneself. This is the philosophy of the The Art of Leadership movement.

In her personal time, she loves to travel, weight lift, dance and experience new things.
